Aalen University   Prof. Dr. Ulrich Klauck
Department of Computer Science

Problem Set „OpenCV - Image Digitization"

Problem 1

Write a notebook (or program) that changes the intensity resolution (the number of different intensity levels) of an image. Do that for graylevel images as well as for color images. We did not yet talk about a computational method in the course. Try to find a method by your own.

Apply your program to different images and use different number of levels. What are your observations?